

Index to Volume 3

Authors

Becker, Peter 341–365
 Brusasco–Mackenzie, Margaret 197–213
 Carney, Tom 95–114
 Cremona, Marise 67–94
 Crowe, Brian L. 319–324
 Cruz Vilaça, José Luis da 13–52
 Dauster, Jorio 447–449
 Devuyt, Youri 459–479
 Emmert, Frank 367–398
 Fassino, Piero 1–11
 Hakura, Fadi S. 115–1234
 Heredia, José Manuel Sobrino 13–52
 Hillion, Christophe 399–420
 Holland, Martin 215–232
 Kints, Andreas 537–562

Lavenex, Sandra 275–294
 Light, Margot 53–66
 Lippert, Barbara 341–365
 McMahon, Joseph 233–251
 Neuwahl, Nanette A.E.M. 177–195
 Peresso, Elena Maria 135–156
 Perez, Oren 563–582
 Rhein, Eberhard 325–340
 Rocard, Michel 169–175
 Schmalz, Uwe 421–440
 Smith, Karen 253–274
 Streeter, Gary 315–318
 Ward, Angela 505–536
 Wegner, Manfred 451–457
 Yamane, Hiroko 481–504

Title

The Amsterdam Provisions on External
 Coherence: Bridging the Union's
 Foreign Policy Dualism? by *Uwe
 Schmalz* 421–440
 ASEAN and the Asia–Europe Meeting:
 Strengthening the European Union's Relationship with South–East Asia? by
Joseph McMahon 233–251
 Asylum, Immigration and Central Eastern Europe: Challenge to EU Enlargement,
 by Sandra Lavenex 275–294
 The Costs of Conflict to the EU, by *Michel
 Rocard* 169–175
 EMU and the World Economy, by *Manfred
 Wegner* 451–457
 The EU and the Challenge of Enlargement
 by Gary Streeter 315–318

EU Efforts to Open the Japanese Market:
 Government, Market Structure and Private
 Practices, by Hiroko Yamane 481–504
 The EU's Locus Standi in GATT Article III
 Trade Disputes: A Reappraisal, by *Tom
 Carney* 95–114
 Euro–Mediterranean Cultural Cooperation,
 by Elena Maria Peresso 135–156
 The European Union and the 1997 'Earth
 Summit': Evaluation and Prospects, by Margaret Brusasco–Mackenzie 197–213
 The European Union and the Transformation of the Andean Pact into the Andean Community: From the Trujillo Protocol to the Sucre Act, by
*José Luis da Cruz Vilaça and José
 Manuel Sobrino Heredia* 13–52

- The European Union as an International Actor: The Issues of Flexibility and Linkage, by Marise Cremona 67–94
- The European Union on its Way to Becoming a World Power, by Eberhard Rhein 320–340
- The External EU Immigration Policy: The Need to Move Beyond the Orthodoxy, by Fadi S. Hakura 115–134
- Frameworks for Cooperation between the European Union and Third States: A Viable Matrix for Uniform Human Rights Standards? by Angela Ward 505–536
- The International Dimension of the EC's Antitrust Policy: Extending the Level Playing Field, by Youri Devuyt, 459–479
- Italy's Foreign Policy: A New Agenda for Europe and its Global Challenges, by Piero Fassino 1–11
- MERCOSUR and European Union: Prospects for an Inter-Regional Association, by Jorio Dauster 447–449
- NATO–WEU: an Enduring Relationship, by Andreas Kintis 537–562
- A Partner With a Troubled Personality: EU Treaty-Making in Matters of CFSP and JHA after Amsterdam, by Nanette A.E.M. Neuwahl 177–195
- Partnership and Cooperation Agreements between the EU and the New Independent States of the Ex-Soviet Union, by Christophe Hillion 399–420
- Reconstructing Science: the Hormone Conflict between the EU and the United States, by Oren Perez 563–582
- Security Implications of Russia's Foreign Policy for Europe, by Margot Light 53–66
- Some Reflections on the Common Foreign and Security Policy, by Brian L. Crowe 319–324
- Structured Dialogue Revisited: The EU's Politics of Inclusion and Exclusion, by Barbara Lippert and Peter Becker 341–365
- Switzerland and the EU: Partners, for Better or for Worse, by Frank Emmert 367–398
- The Use of Political Conditionality in the EU's Relations with Third Countries: How Effective? by Karen Smith 253–274
- Vices and Virtues: Europe's Foreign Policy and South Africa 1977–1997, by Martin Holland 215–232

Subject

- Amsterdam Treaty's provisions on external coherence, 421–442
- bridging dualism, 427–439
- dualism, evolution of, 422–423
- foreign policy dualism, and, 421–442
- functional bridges, 428–435
- CFSP decision taking, 432
- CFSP financing, 429–431
- CFSP planning, 431
- external representation, 432–433
- objectives, 428
- responsibility for CFSP, 428
- treaty making, 434–435
- in search of effective dualism management, 425–426
- institutional bridges, 435–439
- Commission, 438
- Council, 437–438
- European Council, 436–437
- European Parliament, 438–439
- interaction between Council and Commission, 435–436
- Maastricht: connecting dualism, 426–427
- nature of dualism, 424–425
- nature of European external policy, 424–425
- process of European external policy unification, 425
- structure of European external policy, 425
- synopsis: dual structure of EU's external policy system, 441

- Andean Pact
 - later development, 18–22
 - original institutional structure, 18–22
- ASEAN and the Asia–Europe Meeting, 233–251
 - ASEM, 241–246
 - EC–ASEAN relationship, 234–241
 - framework for cooperation, 246–251
- ASEM, 241–246
- Asylum, immigration and Central-Eastern Europe, 275–294
 - CEEC's adaptation to EU acquis, 290–291
 - challenges to EU enlargement, 275–294
 - conclusion of readmission agreements, 280–282
 - designation of countries as safe, 279–280
 - dynamics of cooperation, 276–283
 - Europe Agreements, 287–288
 - formalization of cooperation, 283–291
 - instruments of pre-accession, 285–290
 - introduction in pre-accession strategies, 284–285
 - involvement of Central and Eastern Europe, 276–283
 - overarching multilateral consultations, 282–283
 - PHARE programme, 288–289
 - seminars on asylum law, 289
 - structured dialogue, 285–287
 - third countries in Schengen and Dublin Conventions, 278–279
- Barcelona Declaration (27–28 November 1995), 142–147
 - cultural cooperation in the bilateral framework, 144–145
 - cultural cooperation in the multilateral framework, 145–146
 - Euro–Med civil forum, 146–147
- Bosnia
 - costs of conflict to EU, 170–172
- Caucasus
 - costs of conflict to EU, 173–174
- Common Foreign and Security Policy, 319–324
 - common actions and positions adopted by EU Council, 157–166
- Costs of conflict to EU, 169–175
 - Bosnia, 170–172
 - Caucasus, 173–174
 - Rwanda, 172–173
- EC–ASEAN relationship, 234–241
- EMU and the world economy, 451–457
 - euro, 453–456
 - main policy conclusions, 456–457
 - opportunities, 451–452
 - risks, 451–452
 - unsettled issues, 451–452
 - US dollar, 453–456
 - yen, 453–456
- Enlargement of EU
 - challenge of, 315–318
- EU and 1997 UN Earth Summit, 197–213
 - broken promises of Rio, 201–202
 - Commission on Sustainable Development, 199–201
 - conference, 206–208
 - evaluation, 197–213
 - missed opportunity, 208–209
 - preliminary negotiations, 203–206
 - preparation, 202–203
 - Programme Document, 210
 - prospects, 197–213
- EU efforts to open Japanese market, 481–504
 - balance of payments, and, 501–503
 - EU's market access strategy, 493–496
 - foreign business in Japan, 487–491
 - geographical distribution of Japanese FDI outflows, 485–486
 - government market structure, 481–504
 - harbour practices, 498
 - import of leather goods, 500
 - investment relations, 482–487
 - Japan's efforts at deregulation, 491–493
 - Japan's regional balance of payments 1996, 484
 - Japanese trade surplus 1986–96, 483
 - overall trends in EU–Japan trade, 482–487
 - private practices, 481–504
 - public procurement: satellite navigation system for air transport, 496–498
 - recent dispute resolution, 496–500
 - regional direct investment position (assets) (end of 1996), 486–487
 - share of regulated activities by industry (1990), 493

- EU on its way to becoming world power, 325–340
 - capacity of European institutions to fix long-term goals, 328
 - emphasis on legal rules, 328–329
 - essence of emerging European system, 325–329
 - evolutionary nature of system, 326–328
 - from regional to global power, 335–336
 - manageability of larger EU, 337–339
 - outer limit of EU, 332–335
 - pragmatic approach taken by all players, 326
 - productive interaction between sovereign states and newly created European institutions, 325–326
 - towards more and more European-wide regulations, 329–332
- EU treaty-making, 177–195
 - Amsterdam, after, 177–195
 - international legal personality of EU, 178–186
 - questions raised by Articles J.14 and K.10, TEU, 186–194
 - financial aspects, 194
 - judicial control, 192–193
 - procedures, 188–192
 - treaty-making power, 187–188
- EU's locus standi in GATT Article III trade disputes, 95–114
 - admissibility of specific complaints based on Article III:2 GATT 1994, 98–99
 - Article 113 and general Community competence in trade agreements, 103–105
 - Article 113 and WTO, 102–103
 - Community standing in WTO legal proceedings, 99–102
 - concern relating to Article III:2 GATT 1994 complaints, 100–102
 - treatment of Article III:2 GATT-related issues in Community law, 108–113
 - Vienna Convention, 113
 - WTO/GATT related matters, 105–108
 - WTO panel establishment, 97
 - WTO trade dispute mechanism, 96–99
 - substance of trade complaints generally, 97–98
- Euro-Mediterranean cultural cooperation, 135–156
 - 1996–7: deficit in the cultural field, 147–149
 - Barcelona Declaration (27–28 November 1995), 142–147
 - cultural cooperation, 140–141
 - decentralized cooperation: a viable approach, 152–155
 - EU's Mediterranean policy, 136–139
 - example of 'Jemstone', 151–152
 - future of the MED programmes, 150–151
 - global Mediterranean policy, 136–137
 - MED programmes, 139–142
 - restructured Mediterranean policy, 137–139
 - suspension of MED programmes, 141–142
- Europe
 - new agenda for, 1–11
 - security implications of Russia's foreign policy, 53–66
- European Community as an international actor, 79–90
 - conditionality, 81–86
 - Cuba and Helms–Burton, 90–94
 - exporting Community norms and standards, 86–90
 - strategic approach, 79–81
- European Conference, 295–304
 - inaugural meeting, 295–297
 - press conference concluding, 297–304
- European security
 - real threats to, 58–65
 - Russian fissile materials, 58
 - Russian foreign policy, and, 53–66
 - Russian organized crime, 59
- European Union and the transformation of the Andean Pact, 13–52
 - context of EU–Andean Group relationship, 13–18
 - development of sub-regional integration, 22–24
- Economic Commission to Latin America and the Caribbean (CEPAL), 14
- evolution of Andean Community, 44–49
- Junta del Acuerdo de Cartagena (JUNAC), 15
- reasons for reform, 13–18
- relation of Andean Community with EU after signature of Trujillo Protocol, 44–49

- European Union and the transformation of the Andean Pact cont.
 - ups and downs of project, 22–24
 - work preceding institutional reform, 24–26
- European Union as an international actor, 67–94
 - the European Community and its Member States, 70–79
 - the European Union and the European Community, 67–69
- External EU immigration policy, 115–134
 - alternative paradigm for EU immigration policy, 128–133
 - background on immigration into Europe, 116–117
 - ‘brain drain’, 123–124
 - ‘brain gain’, 123–124
 - cultural arguments, 124–128
 - demand–pull versus supply–push migration, 128–129
 - demographic argument, 117–120
 - economic arguments, 120–124
 - employment and wages, 121–123
 - European ‘birth dearth’, 117–119
 - inferiority principle, 124–125
 - national homogeneity/Huntingdon’s conflict thesis, 125–127
 - new approach for an external immigration policy, 131–133
 - population explosion myth, 117–119
 - poverty and migration, 119
 - repercussions on EU’s foreign affairs, 127–128
 - repercussions on EU’s relationship with third states, 119–120
 - services and unskilled immigrant labour, 129–130
 - welfare and economic growth, 120–121
- Former Yugoslavia
 - Court of Auditors’ Special Report on implementation of EU aid, 583–586
- Frameworks for cooperation between EU and third states, 505–536
 - competence of Community to conclude external agreements concerning human rights, 528–533
 - development of external aspect of Community human rights policy, 507–513
 - EU and Australia, 518–519
 - EU and Canada, 518
 - EU and China, 520–522
 - EU and Far East, 522–524
 - EU and Human Rights instruments
 - exclusively concerning underdeveloped countries, 524–526
 - EU and USA, 516–518
 - implementation of May 1995 policy, 513–528
 - internal problems, 528–533
 - viable matrix for uniform human rights standards, whether, 505–536
- Hormone* conflict between EU and United States, 563–582
 - Appellate Body’s recommendations, 573
 - determining limits of state regulatory powers, 568–573
 - disguised restrictions on international trade, 568–573
 - drive for harmonization, 566–568
 - history of dispute, 564–566
 - legal problems, 566–573
 - political implications, 574–578
 - problematic linkage between WTO and other international organizations, 566–568
 - reconstructing science, 563–582
 - risk assessment, 568–573
 - scientific justification, 568–573
 - taking Appellate Body’s decision a step forward, 578–581
 - wider implications of decision, 574–581
- International dimension of EC’s antitrust policy, 459–479
 - Agreements with MERCOSUR, Chile and Mexico, 474–476
 - Canada, 468
 - Commission’s rationale in favour of international antitrust policy, 462–464
 - competition rules and non-preferential trade agreements, 473–476
 - competition rules and preferential trade agreements, 470–473
 - customs union with Turkey, 471
 - developing multilateral framework, 476–478

- International dimension of EC's antitrust policy cont.
 - EC's antitrust policy, 460–462
 - EEA, 470
 - Euro-Mediterranean Agreements, 473
 - Europe Agreements, 471–472
 - Free Trade Agreement with Switzerland, 470–471
 - linking competition rules to trade agreements, 469–476
 - OECD Recommendation, 469
 - Partnership and Cooperation Agreements with NIS, 473–474
 - specific bilateral agreements governing competition relations, 464–469
 - spreading level playing field, 459–479
 - United States, 465–468
 - EC-US Agreement 1991, 465–466
 - further development: towards exchange of confidential information, 468
 - in practice, 466–467
 - Positive Comity Agreement 1998, 467
- Italy
 - foreign policy, 1–11
- MERCOSUR and the EU, 447–449
 - prospects for inter-regional association, 447–449
- NATO–WEU, 537–562
 - Amsterdam Summit, 554–557
 - Berlin Summit, 549–554
 - enduring relationship, 537–562
 - FAWEU, 543
 - Madrid Summit, 554–557
 - Military Committee, 544–545
 - NATO's 1994 Brussels Summit, 546–548
 - outstanding issues, 557–558
 - Planning Cell, 542–543
 - reorganization of military structure at WEU headquarters, 545–546
 - Satellite Centre, 543
 - Situation Centre, 544
 - strengthening WEU's operational capabilities, 541–546
- Partnership and Cooperation Agreements
 - between EU and NIS, 399–420
 - anticipated application of selected GATT principles, 409–411
 - broad political inspiration, 415–418
 - cautious liberalization, 412–414
 - commercial defence measures, 412–414
 - conditions for business and investment, 414–415
 - consistent alternative to Europe Agreement, as, 420
 - instrument rooted in new European geopolitical context, 401–403
 - label on mere TCA, as, 420
 - limits to trade concessions, 411–412
 - paving long way towards NIS
 - integration into World Trade System, 408–418
 - pre-association strategy, as, 420
 - specific EU policy towards NIS, 403–405
 - trade dynamic, 408–418
 - unclear specificity, 405–408
- Political conditionality, 253–274
 - building EU consensus on, 258–265
 - cases of aid suspension/interruption, 267
 - effectiveness, 253–274
 - meaning, 256–258
 - practice, in, 265–273
 - use in EU's relations with third countries, 253–274
- Process of Andean integration
 - historical perspective, 18–26
- Russia
 - foreign policy, 53–66
- Russian foreign policy
 - cold war, 58
 - matryoshka* nationalism, 57
 - potential threats to European security, 54–57
 - real threats to European Security, 58–65
 - security implications for Europe, 53–66
- Rwanda
 - costs of conflict to EU, 172–173
- South Africa and Europe's foreign policy, 215–232
 - bilateral policies, 231
 - chronology 1977–97, 219

- South Africa and Europe's foreign policy, cont.
 - virtues: strengths of CFSP process, 226–231
 - bridging capabilities – expectations gap, 228–229
 - civilian power and instruments, 229–230
 - Commission, 230–231
 - global role, 227–228
 - policy transition, 226–227
- weaknesses inherent to CFSP, 216–226
 - absence of single decision-making focus, 223–224
 - constraint of consensus, 216–218
 - domestic politics and complexity of common positions, 225–226
 - finances, 221–222
 - ineffective instruments, 218–220
 - marginalizing European Parliament, 222–223
 - overlapping international roles, 224–225
 - problem of mixed pillars, 220–221
- Structured Dialogue, 341–365
 - Agenda 2000 and new approach after Luxembourg, 358–364
 - analytical approach, 342–346
 - empirical development, 346–358
 - EU's politics of inclusion and exclusion, 341–365
 - fourth phase: convincing but fading away, 354–355
 - frequency of ministerial meetings, 356
 - interim evaluation, 355–358
 - origins, 346–358
 - outlook, 364–365
 - second phase in 1995: first experiences, 348–349
 - third phase: first full cycles of meetings, 349–354
 - follow up, 352–354
 - implementation, 352
 - preparation, 351–352
 - warming up phase, 346–348
- Sucre Act, 13–52
- Sucre Summit, 44–49
- Switzerland and the EU, 367–398
 - agriculture, 390–391
 - air transport, 383–385
 - current bilateral Swiss–EU negotiations, 375–391
 - EFTA, 372–375
 - free movement of persons, 377–381
 - future prospects, 391–397
 - inevitable partnership, 371–372
 - partnership, 367–398
 - possible scenarios after definitive failure of bilateral negotiations, 393–397
 - public procurement, 388–389
 - research, 381–383
 - road transport, 385–388
 - technical barriers to trade, 389–390
- Trujillo Protocol, 13–52
 - new institutional structure set up by, 27–36
 - range of institutional responses given to demands of regional integration, 36–44
- Trujillo Reform
 - antecedents of, 18–26