

1995 INDEX

- Administrative justice, 347–369
 - developing human right, 347–369
 - European Court of Human Rights and, 356–368
 - cases, 358–365
 - general considerations, 356–358
 - scope of Article 6(1), 365–368
 - table of decisions, 359
 - recent decisions, 348–351
 - right to, 351–356
- Article 169, EC Treaty
 - enforcement procedure under, 535–539
- Austria, 1–7
 - accession to European Union, 1–7
 - constitutional law, 1–7
 - democracy, 2–3
 - federalism, 3–4
 - proposed constitutional revisions, 7
 - republican principle, 3
 - rule of law, 5–7
 - separation of powers, 4–5
- Belgium, 8–15
 - direct election of parliaments of
 - communities and regions, 12–13
 - extension of powers of communities and regions relating to foreign affairs, 10–12
 - federal state after fourth State Reform, 8–15
 - reform of bicameral system at federal level, 13–14
 - relation between federal parliament and government, 14–15
- Citizenship, 633–661
 - alternatives, 658–661
 - EU, of, 636–637
 - 'fortress Europe' approach, 659
 - France, 636
 - Italian case, 635–636
 - meaning, 633–634
 - national identities, and, 633–661
 - nationality, and, 634–637
 - nationals of member states, 636–637
 - new republican model, 660
 - political identity, and, 657–658
 - 'Volk' approach, 659
- Commercial policies
 - competition law, and, 92–94
- Committee of the Regions, 395–416
 - British local government, and, 412–415
 - resilience of, 414–415
 - competence, 401
 - Europe and British local government, 395
 - European models, 397–399
 - future of, 407
 - justiciability of subsidiary, 405–407
 - local government constitutional
 - springboard, 399–409
 - origins, 402–404
 - reasons for optimism, 408
 - work of, 404–405
- Common European public law, 227–239
 - administrative law, and, 230–231
 - BVerfG*, and, 234–235
 - context, 228
 - definition, 228
 - fundamental rights, and, 229
 - influence of European Convention on Human Rights, 233–234
 - limited competence of European Union, and, 231
 - Maastricht Treaty, and, 236–237
 - national constitutional law, and, 232
- Competition law, 85–96
 - BEUC v. EC Commission*, 85–96
 - cars, complaints and the Commission, 85–96
 - judicial review, 86–88
 - public interest discretion, 89–92
 - commercial policies, 92–94
- Court of Auditors, 599–632
 - access, 616–617

Court of Auditors, cont.

- accountability, 611
- audience, 619–626
 - Commission, 619–620
 - Council, and, 625
 - European Parliament, 620–625
 - member states, 626
- budgetary procedures, and, 602–608
- contradictory procedure, 617
- contrôleur financier*, and, 605–607
- cooperation with national audit institutions, 613
- creation, 608–609
- European Parliament, and, 620–625
 - Budgetary Control Committee, 622–623
 - discharge procedure, 620–622
 - spending, 623–625
 - value for money, 623–625
- financial accountability, and, 599–632
- financial audit, 612–613
- financial control, and, 599–632
- financial procedures, and, 602–608
- framework of financial control and budgeting, 628–632
- future role, 626–632
- implementation of Budget, and, 604–605
- internal audit of Commission, and, 607–608
- membership, 609–610
- organization, 627–628
- reporting, 618
- significance of DAS, 614–615
- structure, 610–611, 627–628
- value for money audit, 615–616
- work of, 611–618

Denmark, 149–155

- administrative law, 152–153
- basic features of public law, 149–155
- constitutional law, 150–151
- international law, and, 154–155

Directives, 79–83

- direct effect, 79–83
- horizontal effect, 79–83
- vertical effect, 79–83

Discrimination

- European Citizenship, and, 417–437

England, 156–165

- judicial review of discretion, 163–164
- ministerial responsibility, 159–161
- public and private law, 161–163
- relationship between domestic and non-domestic law, 156–159

Equal pay claims, 331–338

- European Court of Justice, and, 331–338
- indirect discrimination, 331–338

Equal Treatment Directive

- pregnancy, and, 65–67

European Charter of Local Self-

- Government, 409–412

new CLRAE, 411–412

- practical effect, 410–411

principles, 409–410

European Citizenship, 417–437

- Canada compared, 430–433
- discrimination, 417–437
- free movement of workers, 417–437
- nationality, 417–437
- United States compared, 430–433

European Commission

- enforcement procedure under Article 169, EC Treaty, and, 535–539

European Community

- decentralization of enforcement of rules, 114–115
- division of powers, 103–104
- Maastricht Treaty Article 36, 100–103
- measures, aims of, 107–109
- powers, 97–116
- safeguards against excessive actions, 98–100
- subsidiarity principle
- choice of means, 109–110
- crucial factors, 111–113
- dangers of, 104–106
- legal working of, 106–107
- treaties, and, 113

European Constitution, 251–253

European Court of Human Rights

- administrative justice, and, 356–358
- 11th Protocol, 221–225
- historical background, 217–219
- human rights machinery 1953–94, 216–217
- need for reform, 219–221
- reform, 215–225

- European Court of Justice
 - equal pay claims, and, 331–338
 - subsidiarity, and, 590–596
- European Union
 - accession of Finland, 166–170
 - Hungary and Poland, possible accession of, 189–200
 - acquis communautaire*, 194–195
 - adhering to obligations of membership, 194–196
 - alternative route to accession, 197–200
 - background, 190
 - constitutions, 191–192
 - conventional road, 191
 - democratic guarantees, 191–194
 - economic and monetary union, 195–196
 - human rights, 192
 - momentum of European integration, 196–197
 - Polish proposal for rapid accession, 197–200
 - protection of minorities, 193–194
 - rule of law, 191–192
 - Hungary, possible accession of, 189–200
 - Poland, possible accession of, 189–200
- Finland, 166–170
 - accession to European Union, 166–170
 - approval of Treaty of Accession, 167–169
 - incorporation of Treaty of Accession, 167–169
 - constitutional implications, 169–170
- France, 16–25
 - administrative courts, 481–489
 - Conseil Constitutionnel*, 23–25, 490–493
 - private education, and, 490–493
 - recent developments, 490–493
 - constitutional reform, 23–25
 - current developments, 16–22
 - injunctions, 486
 - ordonnances*, 484
 - public service, 16–22
 - corruption, 20–22
 - decentralization, 17–18
 - politicization, 20–22
 - privatization, 19–20
 - reforming judicial procedure in
 - administrative courts, 481–489
 - requirement to seek administrative solution, 487–488
 - single judge courts, 483
 - single judge decisions, 484–486
- Free movement of workers
 - European Citizenship, and, 417–437
 - provisions of EC law, 418–425
- Gas and electricity markets
 - liberalized market, 546–547
- Germany, 26–32
 - administrative review, 28–30
 - Auschwitz Lie, 495–496
 - constitutional review, 27–28
 - deployment of troops abroad, 31
 - espionage for East German Intelligence Service, 501–503
 - European law, 504–506
 - ex post facto* liability for acts under East German regime, 497–500
 - border guard shootings, 497–498
 - denunciation, 498–500
 - perversion of justice, 498–500
 - freedom of expression, 494–497
 - freedom to receive information, 494–497
 - incitement to racial hatred, 495–496
 - installation of satellite dishes to receive foreign programmes, 496–497
 - international law, 504–506
 - judicial review, 26–32
 - low-level flights, 503
 - male captus, bene detentus*, 504–505
 - proportionality, 501–503
 - protection of foreign unwed father
 - against expulsion, 505
 - scope of judicial review, 501–503
 - service of writ of summons regarding foreign punitive damages claim, 504
 - ‘Soldiers are Murderers’, 494–495
 - state liability for damages caused by EC Embargo, 32
 - television coverage of Honecker Trial, 496
- Television Directive
 - Federal–State relations in EU matters, 505–506

- Hungary, 33–36
 Academy of Sciences, 35
 Agreement with European Communities on Establishing Association, 34 Law Regulating Police, 34–35 most important laws of 1994, 34–36
 new system of professional associations, 36 possible accession to European Union, 189–200
 public law, 33–36
- Indirect discrimination, 439–468
 aim of Article 95 EC, 440–441
 Article 95(1) EC, 439–468
 definitions, 441–446
 distinctions, 441–446
 ECJ, 448–464
 ‘actual market impact’ approach,
 452–456
 ‘bulk effect’ approach, 451–452
 ‘inverted’ approach to objective justification, 458–463
 model approach to objective
 justification, 463–464
 objective justification, and, 458–464 only imported products adversely affected by tax, 457–458 ‘potential market impact’, approach, 456–457
 prima facie discrimination, 449–458 similar imported products more adversely affected by tax, 449–451 focus on, 441–446 model of analysis, 447–448 objective justification, 448 prima facie, 447–448
 theoretical models for analysis, 440–449
- Ireland, 37–42
 administrative law, 39–42
 constitutional law, 37–39
 public law, 37–42
- Irish broadcasting ban, 69–78
 Brandon Books case, 75–76 demise of, 69–78
 legal challenges to section 31 Directives, 70–71
- European Commission of Human Rights, 73–75
The State (Lynch) v. Cooney, 70–73
 origins, 69–70
O’Toole case, 75–76
 political thinking, and, 77–78 security, and, 77–78
- Israel, 171–176
 basic laws, 171–172
 legal status, 172–175 constitutional debate, 171–175 judicial protection of human rights, 175–176
 public law, 171–176
- Italy, 299–307
 administrative law, 304–306
 constitutional law, 302–304
 public law, 299–307
 competition law, and, 86–88
 England, 163–164
 Norway, 185
 Scotland, 47–49
- Labour market structures sex discrimination, and, 129–132
- Labour mobility
 provisions of EC law designed to achieve, 418–425
- Liberalization of public utilities, 541–548
- Luxembourg, 308–313
 historical background, 308–310
 institutions, 308–310 political system, 310–312 reform projects, 313
- Maastricht Treaty
 Article 36, 100–103
 necessity for, 102–103
 reasons for inclusion, 101
- Media ownership, 549–562
 justification for regulation, 549–552 regulation, 549–562
 EC proposals, 552–554
 UK proposals, 554–559
- Nationality
 Britain, 651–657
 ascription, 652–653

Nationality, *cont.*Britain, cont.

- common law theory of natural allegiance, 651–652
- consent, 652–653
- from national allegiance to imperial citizenship, 653–654
- immigration and nationality Acts, 654–655

ius loci, 652–653

national identity, 656

right of abode, 656–657

citizenship, and, 634–637

dispute over Alsace-Lorraine, 639

European Citizenship, and, 417–437

France, 645–651

immigration policies, and, 649–651

origins of idea of nation, 645–647

republican model, 647–649

Germany, 640–644

immigration policies, and, 641–643

new political identity, 643–644

origins, 640–641

reform of law, 643–644

ius loci, 637–638*ius sanguinis*, 637–638

meaning, 633–634

political identity, and, 657–658

Netherlands, 43–45

competition law, 44–45

public law, 43–45

Norway, 177–188

administrative law, 183–188

developments in legal theory, 185–186 impact of Community law, 186–188

judicial review, 185

legislation, 183–184

constitutional law, 178–183

constitutional relationship between state and individual, 181–183

public law, 177–188

separation of powers, 180–181

Occupational segregation

causes, 123–126

Part-time employment discrimination, and, 126–128

Poland, 314–320

access to information, 339–345 changes and tendencies, 314–320 consequences of association, 315–316 constitutional basis, 318–320

implementing administrative reconstruction, 317

market economy, influence of, 317–318

possible accession to European Union, 189–200

problems in applying law, 318 programmes of process of adjustment, 316–317 transformation of system, 314–315

Portugal, 321–328

administrative law, 325–329

codification, 326–328

constitutional principles, 326–328

doctrinal concept, 325–32

judicial control, 328–329

litigation before administrative courts, 328–329 public administration, 329

constitutional law, 321–325

economic organization, 323–324 fundamental rights and duties, 323 guarantee, 325

historical background, 321–322

organization of political power, 324–325

review, 325

structure of 1976 Constitution, 322–323

Postal services

liberalized market, 545–546

Pregnancy, 59–68

EC sex discrimination law, 59–68

Equal Treatment Directive, and, 65–67

Habermann-Beltermann case, 62–64*Webb* case, 62–64

Public interest

competition law, and, 89–92

Public service employment

state autonomy, and, 425–429

Public utilities

liberalization, 541–548

Red Hot Television. See Satellite Television

- Refugees, 259–288
 admissibility to third country, 277–280 assessment of ‘first host country’, 272–275 case law under third country rule, 271–282 European Context, 262–267
 evidential burden, 275–277 exceptional circumstances, 280–281
 Geneva Convention 1951, 261 intergovernmental cooperation, 262–263 legislative and policy framework of United Kingdom practice, 267–271 persecution by other European countries, 281–282 safe third countries, 259
 meaning, 265–266
 third country policy international human rights law, and, 283–287
- Responsibility in government, 371–394
- Russia, 508–519
 administrative law, 517–519
 Constitutional Court, 514–516
 constitutional law, 508–513
 main features of 1993 Constitution, 510–512 changes from past, 511–512 provisions for amendment, 510 relics from past, 512 transitional provisions, 513
 new constitution, 508–510
- Satellite Television, 201–214
 European Convention on Human Rights, and, 211–212 legal aspects of regulation, 201–214 legal position, 203–213 compatibility with UK’s international obligations, 204–213 directives EEC/89/552, 204–208
 public interest, 204
 Treaty of Rome, 208–211
- Scotland, 46–51
 judicial review, 47–49
 public law, 46–51
 sovereign immunity, 49–51
- Sex discrimination curing problem, 128–134 equal opportunities in labour market, 117–135 indirect, 117–135 defining problem, 123–126
 meaning, 119–123
 occupational segregation, 123–126
 significance, 119–123 labour market structures, and, 129–132
 legislation, 129–132
 part-time employment, and, 126–128
 pregnancy, 59–68
 procedural reform, 132–134
- Sovereign immunity
 Scotland, 49–51
- Spain, 52–58
 access to Civil Service by EU citizens, 521–523 basis of current public law, 52–53
 Constitutional Court
 European Community law, and, 53–56
Ley de lo Contencioso-administrativo of 1956, 57–58
Ley 30/1992 de Régimen Jurídico de las Administraciones y del Procedimiento Administrativo Común, 57 Organic Law on Trial by Jury, 520–521
 public law, 520–526
 Public Procurement Act 1995, 523–527
- State autonomy public service employment, and, 425–429
- Subsidiarity, 563–597
 application of principle in EC law, 579–596
 British constitution, and, 568–569
 British view, 563–597
 Community power, 579–582
 devolution of government in United Kingdom, 575–578 impact of principle on political institutions, 587–590 member state power, 579–582 national sovereignty, and, 564–565 principle in United Kingdom, 568–578 role of Court of Justice, and, 590–596 scope of application of principle, 582–587 tendencies, 567

Subsidiarity, cont.

- UK central government, and, 569–575
- UK local government, and, 569–575
- vagueness of principle, 566

Sweden

- public law, 527–534
 - administrative appeals, 532–534
 - administrative procedure, 531–532
 - constitutional background, 528–531
 - historical foundations, 527–528
 - judicial appeals, 532–534
 - special remedies, 532–534

Telecommunications

- liberalized market, 542–544

Treaties

- subsidiarity principle, and, 113

United Kingdom

- civil service, 371–394
- Civil Service Act, 379–383
- ethics and the civil service, 375–378
- ministerial responsibility, 389–391

Nolan Committee's First Report, 392–394

- private world of Whitehall, 386–387
- responsibility in government, 371–394
 - accountability, 383–385
 - policy and accountability, 387–389
 - reform, 383–385
 - responsibility, 383–385

Universal principles of good governance, 241–258

- administration and freedom, 248–251
- citizenship, 253–257
- civil citizenship, 249
- codification of administrative
 - procedures, 247
- context, 242–243
- EC treaties, and, 243–246
- equality, 253–257
- European Constitution, 251–253
- European Ombudsman, 254
- immigration, and, 255
- judge-made, 246
- political citizenship, 256
- social rights, 253–257